Late Foreign News.

NEW-YORK, December 8.

A respectable commercial house in this city has obligingly favored us with an Hamburg paper of the THIRTEENTH OCTOBER. It is the latest European intelligence received on the continent. Our readers would have been in possession of its contents yesterday morning, had not a mistake occurred which prevented its reaching us sooner than yesterday afternoon. The following articles are translated from it

FOR THE MERCANTILE ADVERTISER.

VIENNA, October 3.

The Turkish ambassador has received dispatches from Constantinople, by an extraordinary courier, which mention that the Treaty of Alliance is signed between England, Russia and the Porte. Immediately the report was spread that the present situation of Buonaparte would induce him to capitulate; but it appears that all these reports were fabricated. The courier brought no account relative to Buonaparte; but merely dispatches relative to the treaty of friendship and alliance, which the sublime Porte was disposed to form between Russia and other powers. It is certain that Buonaparte, a few days after the French fleet, sent dispatches to the Directory, and informed it of the state of his army, which had suffered very much from the climate and bad water. He requests the Directory to send him, with the greatest expedition, a reinforcement of a large body of troops; and to send out the second division of the Toulon fleet, to place admiral Brueys in such a situation that he may have no reason to fear the English fleet. The contents of the dispatches of Buonaparte, had been made known at Constantinople officially, through the Turkish minister, to the foreign ministers.

Yesterday the English ambassador, sir Morton Eden, received dispatches from his court for Constantinople. They contain, it is supposed, a counter plan of the alliance between the Porte and the court of London.

The French garrison at Corfu consists of about 4,000 men.

A part of the Russian troops, which are at present on the march, are said to be destined for Italy. On the 3d of October, the first column of the Russian troops is expected at Cairo. The Greek inhabitants of the Morea have taken the oath of allegiance to the Turkish emperor, and have pledged the children of the first rank for the fulfilment of their obligations.

There will yet be raised in the Turkish empire, 100,000 men.

The Aigrette, which the Turkish emperor has made a present of to admiral Nelson, is estimated at 30,000 piastres.

A letter from Constantinople advises that the porte is making every possible preparation for war. The Dutch ambassador exerts himself, by every possible means, to counteract it. Agreeable to private letters from Semlin, dated 25th September, it is asserted, that the greatest part of the Turkish army has departed from Widdin, and the Pacha of Natolien is destined with 30,000 men to oppose Passawan Oglou. At present the city of Widden is bombarded without intermission; and Passawan Oglou replies to this bombardment with the most terrible and well directed cannonade: so that to the present moment nothing material has been effected against him.

Thirty different attacks by the Turkish army he has most fortunately counteracted, and we are at present waiting the result of the 31st. After the last battle with the governor of Romelia, where on both sides upwars of 1,400 Turks have fallen, the said Pacha has been compelled to retreat to Nassa—where, by the loss of his head, he will be obliged to account for those lost battles—as also for immense unnecessary expence. At present he has proceeded to Sophia, to reinforce his army with 30,000 mountaineers; and he has wrote to the Grand Sultan that he would appear himself at Constantinople to give an account of his conduct.

By letters from Paris of the 4th October last, it is said, yesterday the Neapolitan and Portuguese ambassadors had left that city, but this is hitherto without any foundation. However, it would seem that the Portuguese minister will not remain here long, as his powers are not satisfactory enough; his secretary is an Englishman.

PARIS, October 4.

The frigates La Voluntaire and the Insurgente sailed from Port L'Orient to their respective destinations. General Desfourneaux (agent for Guadaloupe) is on board the first mentioned, and on board the second is citizen Burner for Cayenne.

Letters from Brest of the 26th September mention, that as yet of the squadron that sailed out of this port, consisting of one ship of the line and three frigates, none have yet returned, and that since the day of their departure, no news or accounts have been received concerning them.

Our Toulon squadron that sailed from thence lately of 3 line of battle ships and 1 frigate with some transports, has returned to this port; it was reported (but without ground) that they were to take possession of Leghorn.

One of our papers contain letters from Ancona of the 18th September, wherein mention is made, that the Genereux ship of the line, had arrived at Corfu, with the English line of battle ships; the Stenton, of 74 guns, which the Genereux fell in with on her voyage in a very shattered condition. On board the sloop of war which brought this news to Ancona came passenger citizen Commeyras.

Yesterday Bergasse Laziroull said in the Council of Five Hundred that there was at present a deficiency of 300 millions now existing, and that means must be resorted to for reinstating that sum; upon which it was resolved to unite the old finance commission, with the new commission of indirect expences, and to make a report to them thereof; as also of the means for reinstatement, and establish an equal balance between the receipts and the expenditures.

The taxes and assessments for the 7th year are fixed at 210 millions, and the plan for raising the same is already accepted.

The directory sent a message to the Council of Five Hundred, wherein they strongly recommend the raising the necessary contributions for the 7th year, which are valued at 600 millions.

In Turin there still reigns a kind of dissatisfaction between the French troops and the inhabitants of that place.

ROME, September 28.

All the inhabitants of our republic, capable of bearing arms, have been enrolled, in order to be in readiness to march, if necessary. They write from Naples that Admiral Nelson was expected there with a part of his fleet on the 18th inst.

There has passed through our city, a French officer from Malta, who it is said is charged with dispatches to the directory of great importance from Buonaparte, relative to his deplorable situation in Egypt. Others pretend that he only carries an account of the present situation of Malta.

The French have disarmed all the inhabitants of the Roman republic on the borders of Naples. The consul Angelucci, who resides here, has resigned his place.

ITALY, September 28.

By the last enrollment, 40,000 men have been enlisted in the territory of Naples.

A very mortal disorder, it is said, rages at Cairo.

The Ligurian republic, induced by the French, is greatly increasing its military force. They have granted the minister of war 500,000 livres.

We have at present another detail respecting the defeat of the French in Egypt.—Agreeable thereto, the first of August was appointed by the French admiral to celebrate Buonaparte's entry into Cairo. The French admiral's ship was most superbly dressed with colors of every description when the British fleet appeared in sight of the French.—The British tars huzzaed in such a manner as if they were certain of victory. It is reported that Admiral Nelson said, "To-morrow I shall be either a lord or an angel."

VENICE, September 30.

In our neighborhood every thing assumes a warlike appearance. In the magazines and foundaries they are employed day and night incessantly. Here is the deposit of gun powder and artillery for the imperial army in Italy: Our garrison consists of 14,000 men. Near Verona the imperial troops have formed a camp of 30,000 men; another of 18,000 men is formed near Padua. The Archduke Joseph is daily expected to review the troops. The French garrison at Mantua consists of 6,000 men.

NAPLES, September 11.

They say the Viceroy of Sicily has advised our court that at the time when they were carrying off all the silver utensils at Malta, very serious disturbances had arisen, in which the mal-contents gained some advantage.—Other reports add, that the French, who had retreated to the fort of Elgo, had been compelled to bombard the city of Valetta; and that the mal-contents of that city had kept up so heavy a fire on the French ship of the line which had fled from Alexandria, that she soon after sunk.

As things are situated, in case of a war with France, after the fate of the Toulon fleet, the island of Sicily need not be under any apprehension of an attack from the French. Therefore most of the regiments which have been raised will be transported with dispatch to the kingdom of Naples.

LONDON, October 2.

On Sunday afternoon Sir Sydney Smith, again left town for Portsmouth, being appointed to a seperate command. As we know that an English officer is about to leave this country for Constantinople, to take the command of the Turkish fleet, we think it higly probable that Sir Sydney is the man.

October 5.

Admiral Nelson and the Captains of his ships will be complimented with the rights of citizenship of this metropolis. Two months and more had elapsed before we received the news of Nelson's victory.

All ships or vessels coming into British ports from Philadelphia or Pennsylvania, are obliged, on account of the present prevailing contagious disorder in those parts, to lay quarantine.

LEESBURG, (Vir.) Nov. 29.

On Sunday evening last a fire was discovered on the plantation of Mr. Charles Binns, by a negro man belonging to Mrs Ansley.—He informed Mr Edward Rhodes of the circumstance, who concluded it was made by some runaway slaves, and approached the fire with intent to apprehend them. Two negroes were discovered asleep. They immediately seized them, and Mr. Rhodes secured one, who is safe in goal; but unfortunately, in a scuffle, the other, stabbed Mrs. Ansley's negro, with a knife, of which he died the next morning:—The villain immediately fled, and notwithstanding the greatest exertions of a number of gentlemen to apprehend him, he has escaped. They ran away from their masters near Petersburgh, for the apprehension of whom, it is said, sixty dollars was offered.

It is reported that several Negroes of the above description are lurking in the country, probably provided with similar weapons, and determined to defend themselves at the risk of their lives.

Great caution is necessary in attempting to apprehend them to prevent similar disasters.

LAUNCH.

On Saturday afternoon, at half after 3 o'clock P. M. the United States Brig South-Carolina, built by Mr. Paul Pritchard, and intended for the Revenue Cutter of this port, was launched from his yard. She is a beautiful veſſel, will mount 14 guns and it is expected will be commanded by James Paine, Eſquire. She is ſixty-three feet keel, 96 upon deck, and 22 feet beam, built of our own Live Oak, to be coppered, handſomely moulded and conſtructed, and judges ſay will ſail remarkably faſt.

Her launch was conducted with ſkill and regularity; ſhe travelled majeſtically and with rapidity into her element as ſoon as ſhe was releaſed from the blocks, without accident.

A great number of gentlemen went up to view the pleaſing ſcene, and were highly gratified.—There would doubtleſs have been a very great concourſe of ſpectators had timely notice been given, but from ſome accident this was omitted, and it was therefore not ſo generally known as it ſhould have been.

One of the Gallies lately built, commanded by Capt. Hayward, ſailed up the river with a party of gentlemen, and fired a ſalute as ſoon as ſhe ornamented the water, and were ſucceeded by the hearty federal huzzas of the citizens.

SMITH's MOUNT, (Vir.) Nov. 10.

MR. GREEN,

IT is a matter of little conſequence to the public, or the citizens of Weſtmoreland whether in fact, I was the firſt, or the laſt perſon, who ſigned the addreſs of that county to the Preſident; nor ſhould I ever have troubled myſelf with rendering a ſtatement of the tranſaction, had it not been extorted from me by a wanton, and infamous miſrepreſentation which appeared in a Fredericſburg paper, and which was re-publiſhed in the Times, about the 20th of July, in which laſt paper it was firſt preſented to my knowledge. I ſtill remain ignorant of the Author of this moſt impudent and wicked attempt to impoſe upon the public, at the expenſe of my fellow citizens of Weſtmoreland, nor ſhall I ever beſtir myſelf to diſcover him: It is enough that near 500 of the moſt reſpectable citizens of that county ſigned this affectionate, and patriotic addreſs to their illuſtrious and beloved chief magiſtrate, and that (no matter whether) 11 or 15 ſigned the counter-reſolutions.

This is a truth which, I believe will not now be conteſted by the effrontery and duplicity even of jacobinic violence and intrigue.

To prove to you that the Herald has not been proſtituted by the leaſt exceſs of truth in the whole courſe of my publications, and to afford you, and thoſe who may be curious enough to examine them, a ſpecimen of jacobinic veracity I now take the liberty to tranſmit to your office two papers, upon which my defence of the cauſe of my country has been conducted; the one is Mr. Porter's liſt given in at Stafford on the 30th June, upon which my ſtatement was founded, as far as it related to the very unimportant particular of the number of ſubſcribers on the liſt, bearing my name, which you will obſerve preciſely to correſpond with my foregoing communications: The other is an original paper containing 53 ſubſcribers, 37 of whom ſigned on the 25th June, being court day. Now add to theſe 37, the number admitted by Mr. Parker to have ſigned on court day upon the other liſt attacked by his friend Juſtice Templeman, and you will find the reſult to be 72 Yet the whole of this ſhameful controverſy has been grafted upon my contradiction of the anonymous ſtatement of the ſingle fact, that "not more than between 40 and 50 perſons could be prevailed on to ſign the addreſs to the preſident on the 25th of June."

The papers which I now forward you with a requeſt that they may be depoſited in your office, I obtained from Col. William Auguſtine Waſhington, with whom the authentic documents relating to the addreſs were lodged, for the avowed purpoſe of being reſorted to in caſe any attempts might be made by the paltry agents in this country of the diabolical French faction, to miſrepreſent that honorable, ſalutary, and patriotic meaſure.

HENRY SMITH TURNER.

MR. GREEN,

In your paper of the 27th inſt. I ſee a Memorial from the county of Caroline, to the General Aſſembly. This Memorial, it is ſaid, received the ſanction of a numerous meeting of the people, who directed the chirman to ſign it in their behalf. In this ſtatement there is ſome inaccuracy which ought to be corrected. The fact is, ſir, that the meeting was not numerous, and that not more than half of the people preſent at the Court Houſe voted upon the queſtion. I ſay not numerous—becauſe this word is to be underſtood in its relative ſenſe, as bearing ſome proportion to the reſt of the County. In this ſenſe it is very incorrect indeed, for I do not believe that any thing like a third or even a fourth of the county voted in favor of it.

If the Chairman was ordered to ſign the Memorial in behalf of the Meeting, he muſt have received his orders in private, and from a few, for I aſſure you he received no ſuch directions in public, or from the many.

It is neceſſary that this matter ſhould be rightly underſtood; becauſe the Memorial alluded to is extremely rude in ſtyle, and contains very unwarrantable inſinuations, not only againſt the government of the United States, but againſt every officer of government, and againſt every man who is attached to the conſtitution and laws of his own country. But the people of Caroline, with ſome exceptions, are firmly Federal. Arts and artifices have been practiſed to deceive them, to inflame their paſſions, and to miſlead underſtandings. Things, however, are getting right! Information is diffuſing over the country; the eyes of the people are opening faſt, and thoſe who have been chiefly inſtrumental in deluding them, are ſinking faſt in the public eſtimation.

Let it be known, ſir, a Counter-Memorial is preparing, which will be preſented at the next Court, for the ſignatures of thoſe who, like myſelf, approve of all the meaſures of the Federal Government which bear any ſort of relation to the French Directory, or to the partizans, agents and ſpies of the French Directory.

A FEDERAL FREEHOLDER
of Caroline.

EASTON, (E. S. M.) Dec. 4.

At the cloſe of the Polls in the diſtrict, on Thurſday evening laſt, the votes, as far as we have been able to underſtand, ſtood as follows:

In Talbot for Mr. G. 630—for Mr. N. 356
In Queen Ann's for do. 417—for do. 641
In Caroline the majority for do. 122.

So that Mr. Nicholſon appears to be elected by a majority of 74 votes only. This happy, and we will venture to aſſert, this ſtill increaſing, change in the ſentiments of the people, proves that the cauſe of anti-federaliſm, which had moſt unexpectedly taken a foot-hold in the diſtrict, is declining apace, and forebodes the triumph of Federaliſm at the next trial. Indeed, we are perſuaded, that the people in general, are very faithfully attached to their government, and hold the hoſtility and inſolence of the French in utter deteſtation; and the moment they ſee how falſely the friends of Mr. Goldſborough have been accuſed of inſidious deſigns againſt their country, and how unjuſtly they have been treated by the champions of oppoſition, they will know in whom they ought to confide, and againſt whom to level their well grounded reſentments. They have the beſt hearts in the world; but they have not ſufficiently the means of information.

A FEDERALIST.

NEW-YORK, December 6.

A writer in Europe predicts ſome good effects from the French taking Malta. He remarks that the Algerines have always alledged, in excuſe of their piracies, that they could not alter their piratical way of life, while the Malteſe were cruiſing againſt them. As this reaſon no longer exiſts, he is inclined to think they may quit the profeſſion; eſpecially as the French inſiſt on it. What glorious times for trade, when the Algerines and French quit piracy!

The French pirates, which for a long period had infeſted the port of Havanna, became at length ſo offenſive, that the government of Cuba has given orders to expel them therefrom.

December 8.

There are letters in town to French gentlemen of diſtinction, that induce us to announce with certainty, the approach of the moſt violent commotions in France during the coming year—unhappy country! deſtined to eternal convulſions and ſufferings—One revolution takes place after another—but it is to you only a change of maſters, not of condition. It is ſtill ſlavery, that you are doomed to—Yet there are Americans to be found, who admire and envy French freedom—Is this ignorance, or the baſeſt hypocriſy?

By the Poliſki, from Hamburg, we have been favored with papers to the ſixteenth of October, From being diſappointed by the tranſlator, we are unable to give any lengthy extracts this day—if poſſible we will be more copious on Monday,

TRANSLATED FOR THE D. ADVERTISER.

HAMBURG, October 15.

Letters from Vienna, dated Sept. 29, ſays—The lateſt intelligence from Egypt, received by the way of Conſtantinople, do not mention any new battles having recently taken place in that quarter—but mention, that the ſituation of Buonaparte was very unfavorable, and that an army of 60 or 70 thouſand men were marching to ſurround him.

We are anxious to be informed of the reſult of the propoſitions made by the French miniſter at Raſtadt, which were ſaid to have actually taken place, intimating, that peace ſhould be made with all the powers actually at war with the French Republic, conſidering that the ſituation of Europe is ſuch, that the general wiſh is that war ſhould be at an end. They poſitively aſcertain alſo, that the Ottoman Miniſtry are determined, if this happy event ſhould be agreed upon, to participate.

PHILADELPHIA,

TUESDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 11.

Extract of a letter from a gentleman in Virginia, to his friend in Philadelphia, dated November 25d, 1798.

"J. Brackenridge made a journey laſt Auguſt, from Kentucky to the Eaſtern parts of Virginia, and brought back with him, ready penned, the nine reſolutions, that are now ſo much talked of, in the Weſtern Parts of the Country."

When General Waſhington came into Congreſs Hall to hear the President's Speech, the members of both houſes roſe to him—an honor never before paid to any but the President himſelf.

We are happy to learn that meaſures are purſuing to bring to juſtice the hardened villain who charged one of the moſt illuſtrious characters of our city, with the horrid crime of MURDER. Indeed it is high time this infamous Jaſper had reſumed that iron ſituation which he fled from.

COMMUNICATIONS.

WHEN we reflect on the downfal of the governments of Venice, Genoa and Switzerland with a view to inveſtigate the cauſes which have induced their deſtruction, we ſhall find, that not ſo much to the ſtrength of their arms, as to the depth of their political intrigues, can the rulers of the French republic attribute their ſucceſs in thoſe countries. It may indeed be laid down as an incontrovertable truth, that before the French republic have employed the proweſs of their arms for the deſtruction of any country, they had, by means of their inſidious principles nearly ſecured the wiſhed-for conqueſt.—From hence then it reſults, that the firſt and greateſt dangers any country can be expoſed to from that nation, is not from their arms, but from their ſlow and certain intrigues. In corroboration of this, it may be aſked, have we not had our own country brought to the verge of ruin, and nearly "tottering to its fall" by thoſe very means; and is it not to thoſe intrigues that we alone can attribute the oppoſition which is yet made to the late virtuous and politic arts of our government!

Impreſſed by theſe ſentiments, it was with much concern I heard our truly patriotic Preſident, in his excellent communication to Congreſs, declare, as his opinion, that it remains with France alone to determine, whether the United States ſhall remain at peace, or ſhall embark herſelf in a war.

Are not the injuries and inſults which have been heaped upon us by that nation, ſufficient to warrant in the opinion of the whole world an immediate declaration of war? A war which, in my opinion is not ſo much to be waged againſt the People of France, as againſt their principles; which is not ſo neceſſary to obtain a compenſation for injuries already done us, as to prevent a renewal of them at a future day. Can the United States cheriſh the expectation that while France continues in her preſent intentions of overthrowing every government in Europe, that her diſtance is a ſufficient protection for her againſt aggreſſions of a ſimilar nature; and that when ſhe aſſures her of a wiſh to cultivate harmony and mutual intercourſe between the two nations, that her real intentions are not again to obtain an influence in this country, and finally, thereby to deſtroy our excellent conſtitution, and erect on its ruins the deteſted fabrick of republican tyranny. No, although apparently ſhe may deſiſt from her inſidious attacks, yet ſhe will ſecretly purſue and act in the ſame line of conduct; and if an envoy is admitted into our country, it will much accelerate her intentions, and almoſt inſure their final completion. A FRIEND TO GOVERNMENT.

"SHEW VICE ITS OWN FEATURES."

The Governor, in his trimming ſpeech, has owned that there is now a perfect unanimity in the people, to "maintain the dignity and rights of our government againſt the arrogance and the force of every foreign power." We cannot ſufficiently admire the candour, and communicative wiſdom of him who comes forward to tell what every one knew, and we are particularly ſtruck with the acuteneſs of the following obſervation: "this ſtate of the public ſentiment, bids defiance to every danger from external outrage." But there is another confeſſion more aſtoniſhing ſtill, and which we fear we ſhall not be able exactly to comprehend till his Excellency will pleaſe to explain more particularly—viz.—"the ſpirit of party, intolerant and vindictive, has evidently raged too long for the peace and reputation of our country." We know not what party ſpirit would injure the peace and reputation of the country, but the ſpirit of unbridled and licentious democracy, the ſpirit of Jacobiniſm, the ſpirit of the apoſtate biſhop and his agents, the ſpirit that actuated the Loganian embaſſy, the ſpirit that oppoſed every meaſure which government took to produce this unanimous public ſentiment: this ſpirit has evinced itſelf as intolerant and vindictive, as a blind zeal for liberty, run mad, and falſe philoſophy could produce, or unmanly artifice and impotent malice would permit; never neglecting an opportunity to "diſcolour the current of public tranſactions," and alſo to "undermine the equal exerciſe of the rights of private opinions;" for what can tend more to undermine this right, than deſtroying the liberty of the preſs? and who has attempted this but Jacobins?

If it is this party ſpirit which has raged too long for the peace and reputation of the country, what atonement can they make in whom it was firſt generated, by whom it has been cheriſhed, by whom it was ſeduloufly maintained as long as they dared maintain it, and who, by the gradual, equivocal and reluctant manner in which they now let it ſlide from them, ſhow how willing they would be ſtill to preſerve it?

MR. FENNO,

Perhaps ſome friend to the Secretary, (I do not preſume to trouble his excellency with the queſtion) may be induced to furniſh an explanation for weaker heads, of the concluding clauſe in his laſt ſpeech—

"If talents ſhall be indiſcriminately ſelected and rewarded for their intrinſic merit alone; and if in ſhort the ſtandard of political parties ſhall ceaſe to be a meaſure for moral perfection, then we may long continue to be a happy people, &c.

Much was I confuſed at the bare propoſition for this indiſcriminate ſelection of intrinſic merit, having always heard from my grand mother, that in order to ſelect, I muſt always diſcriminate. Judge then of the ſtate of my poor brain, when I came to the poſition that ſtates, that by ceaſing to obſerve an important rule in life, we ſhall therefore continue to be happy.

Yours, with impatience.
TIMO: QUID NUNC.

Wilmington, (Del.) Dec. 8, '98.

MR. FENNO,

THIS hopeleſs ſink of Jacobiniſm has been honored with a viſit from Logan and his wife Deborah. I apprehend the latter accompanied the former merely to ſave appearances. They put up at the old Jacobin and piddling genius's, Dickinſon's houſe, in the evening of the 28th ult. In the morning ſeveral of the leading members of the diſorganizing faction were ſeen entering the houſe; among the group was the noted Doctor Tilton and Hamilton Rowan, the United Iriſhman and traitor. On this fellow's meeting Logan, they gave each other the fraternal hug. That night ſeveral of the lower order of Jacobins met the envoy at Dr. Tilton's—ſhut the door—and what follows time muſt develope:—one thing is pretty evident; thoſe United Dagger men are plotting, and it requires no great ſagacity to predict, that if government does not pay ſome attention to Mr. Logan, fool as he may be, he will raiſe a duſt—I mean as an inſtrument for the directory of France and America; for that a directory exiſts here, as well as in France, I have no doubt.

N. B. Laſt night a ſecret meeting of a ſelect club of Jacobins aſſembled at the houſe of Iſaac Starr, tanner, of famous Jacobin memory—the old fox, Tilton, preſent—the door ſhut. Friends to government look out! the ſtorm is gathering!

CONGRESS.

In Senate this day, the anſwer to the Preſident's Speech was agreed to, and the committee who prepared it, appointed to wait upon the Preſident to know at what time it would be convenient for him to receive it.

In the Houſe of Repreſentatives, the committee of reviſal and unfiniſhed buſineſs reported in part.

Mr. Harper moved, that a committee be appointed to prepare and bring in a bill for eſtabliſhing an uniform ſyſtem of bankruptcy throughout the United States.

Mr. Harper alſo laid on the table a reſolution, the object of which was to authoriſe the Secretary of State to cauſe to be printed copies of the Alien and Sedition laws, to be diſtributed gratis throughout the United States.

To this he was induced, he ſaid, from obſerving the unceaſing efforts which were made by a certain claſs of men to bring theſe acts into odium among the people—Miſrepreſentation had been uſed, in order to excite an armed oppoſition to the government.

A CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.
JOHN A. SHAEFFER, of Philadelphia, who has for a few years paſt been in the ſouthern States, has had the effrontery to draw ſeveral Bills of Exchange on Timothy Pickering, Eſq. Secretary of State, and myſelf, and by that means has defrauded a number of perſons of their money, deceiving them by an exhibition of letters and papers with the names affixed of divers public characters and reputable merchants highly recommendatory of ſaid Shaeffer; to one of theſe papers I find my name ſubſcribed, but I do not know the man; theſe are villainous forgeries! To prevent further impoſition, I have to requeſt the printers of Newſpapers in the United States to publiſh this for the benefit of their fellow-citizens.
